If a person is marching to a different beat Perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer let him walk to his own rhythm
 However measured or far behind

Do you remember the endless meadows, the flowers and the soft shadows Everything was washed away between summer and fall,
 And it's a little hard to recall How it used to be so easy to get by just to sing, to live and not to die

There are so many colors in the rainbow
 So many colors in the morning sun
 So many colors in a flower
 And I see everyone

There are places I'll remember all my life though some have changed Some forever, not for better some have gone and some remain All these places had their moments with lovers and friends I still can recall Some are dead and some are living In my life, I've loved them all

People so seldom say "I love you"
 And when they do it's either too late or love has gone;
 So when I say "I love you", it doesn't mean you'll never go, It only means I wish you didn't have to.

But yield who will to their separation,
 My object in living is to unite My avocation and my vocation
 As my two eyes make one in sight.
 Only where love and need are one,
 And the work is play for mortal stakes,
 Is the deed ever really done

I dreamed that I stood by the water and shouted toward the bay, but the warm summer breeze carried away my cries, and they did not reach their destination. Yet I wasn't sorry about that; on the contrary, I felt rather lighthearted.

Buried in soil and given water
Not all seedlings make it, you know.
Watched the sun rise with some others,
Slowly started to mature.
Shared our shelter when it rained,
Together we grew strong and branched out

Now the sun is overhead.
Our limbs seasoned and sturdy Yearn to touch the clouds.
We look independant of one another,
But we have weathered the same experiences.

Leonard Raznick

There's nothing you can make that can't be made,
No one you can save that can't be saved,
Nothing you can do, but you can learn how to be you in time.
It's easy,

All you need is love

As my life goes on, I believe Somehow something's changed
Something deep inside,
A new part of me,
There's a strange new light in my eye

Things I've never known Changing my life
Changing me

Now I see myself as I am Feeling very free Life was everything it was meant to be

When my dreams have come to an end I will understand what I left behind
How to be

was a man, was a two-faced man, pretended he wasn't who he was, who, in a men's room, faced his hung-over face in a mirror hung over the towel rack. The mirror was cracked. Shaving close in that looking glass, he nicked his throat, bled blue blood, grabbed a new towel to patch the wrong scratch, knocked off the mirror and, facing himself, almost intact in final terror hung the wrong face back.

"Who are You?" said the Cat

This was not an encouraging opening for a conversation. Alice replied, rather shyly, "I hardly know, Sir, just at present - at least I know who I was when I got up this morning, but I think I must have been changed several times since then "

"What do you mean by that?"

"Explain yourself!"

afraid, Sir," said Alice, "because I'm not myself, you see " stein, Betty Schwartz; extra special thanks to Susan Stern for her tremendous sports coverage.... and Last but not least, Adam Zager. Thank you to Mr. Penn who made the layouts and watched over our fumbling. Thank you to Mason Kington for his last-minute photography and his proof reading. Thank you to Dorit Artzeili for being a funky proof reader.

Dan Browning was our astute and clever editor this year, who was also responsible for the title page. Marcus Badgley, assistant editor, created the cover and the really swell drawings inside..... Thank you to the darkroom, our workshop, and it's beautiful ventilation system.....

..... We would like to say that we think this years yearbook is a slight change for the better over previous year books, and we encourage further changes and innovations in all areas..... Thank you to the parents who contributed towards the extension of the yearbook which made the senior pages and the added attractions possible.... 'Lick 79' is dedicated to the broken flesh colored paper dispenser next to the left sink in the Art room. It has been a good year. Thank you!
